Dear Kevin:

Thank you for performing your speech so magnificently at the American Society for Quality meeting. Our members thought you were awesome. They also appreciated how well you integrated the quality terms into your message. Your message was so right on in today's world. In business today, the pressures are at times overwhelming and the plans, tools, and strategies you gave the group will serve them well.

I know a couple of members have followed up with you to have you present to their companies. I think those companies will be very fortunate to have you.

Your enthusiasm is contagious, thank you for giving us a humor filled exciting and relevant evening. Multiple people in the association told me they could only hope we could have speakers of your quality, content, professionalism, humor, and experience for all our meetings. Obviously that is not possible, your message and experience is unique and one of a kind!!

Great Work,

Robert Perez
